Hello

The cost of energy is increasing. you stay in control.

As you might have seen in the news, unfortunately the cost of wholesale energy has increased significantly over the past 6 months.

In light of this, Ofgem (the energy regulator) has raised the energy price cap to the Standard tariff in line with it on 1 April.

By doing this, we're able to carry on offering the best of service and value for money.

Here's what it means for you

Your electricity price will increase to the Standard tariff. This means you'll pay a fixed rate for your electricity. We'll show you how it all works in the next section.

Vulnerable people face 'mental distress' to get on the priority services register

Many people don't even know it exists. Ofgem is calling for a universal priority services register so vulnerable people don't have to face unnecessary distress
